List of Businesses Capable of Collecting Surface Cleaning Wastewater

Gwinnett County's Illicit Discharge and Illegal Connection Ordinance prohibits the discharge of polluted wastewater into the Stormwater drainage system. Surface cleaning businesses often produce wastewater that, if discharged into a storm drain, would violate this ordinance. Persons contracting with surface cleaning businesses should ensure that the business is capable of complying with this ordinance. Both the surface cleaning company and the person who contracted with the company may be held liable for non-compliance with the ordinance.

More information on environmental best management practices for handling wastewater associated with surface cleaning is available within Gwinnett County's Water Quality Protection Guideline for Surface Cleaning (WQ-01).

The following list is provided for informational purposes only. Gwinnett County makes no representations that the companies listed herein will comply with the ordinance nor does the listing of any business or mention of any product name constitute an endorsement of that business or recommendation for use. The county has confirmed that listed companies have received a copy of the Water Quality Protection Guideline for Surface Cleaning (WQ-01) and that they have the equipment, which if used correctly, should allow the business to operate in compliance with the guidelines and the ordinance.

If you believe any of the companies listed below have not adequately collected polluted wastewater, please report this to Gwinnett County's Stormwater Management Division at 678.376.7193.

This is not a complete listing of the companies able to perform this work. Check your yellow pages telephone directory and/or internet search engine for additional listings. Please note that company information may have changed.
