USE OF CONST.: The Rinnai RXP199in tankless will be mounted on the wall in the basement equipment room to the right of the existing 50 gallon gas water heater. The existing water heater will remain in place. New 3/4" PEX lines will be installed, teed into the hot and cold water lines above the existing heater and carried down to the new tankless. Isolation ball valves will be installed on the hot and cold water lines at the existing water heater and the new tankless to enable selection of which heater is to be in service. Isolation valves in the gas supply lines at each heater are also installed.

A new duplex receptacle will be installed next to the tankless to provide power to the tankless and a condensate pump for the tankless whose discharge tubing will be routed to the outside. This 20 amp circuit will only supply this receptacle and another nearby receptacle that provides power to a freezer.

A new 3/4" CPVC line will be installed from the tankless relief valve to be discharged to the outside.

The tankless will be vented using Rinnai (Ubbink) 3/5 concentric pipe vertically up through the basement and through a chase in the corner of the garage then turn 90 degrees to exit the house. Total length of the vent pipe is about 15 feet. The vent will exit the house approximately 9 feet above the ground. Exit point is above the right edge of the upstairs LG LUU360HHV condensing unit and to the left of the swimming pool cartridge filter enclosure.

A new 1" gas line will be installed by a licensed contractor from the gas meter underground and brought into the house down to the tankless location in the basement. The gas meter has sufficient capacity since it was upgraded in 2019 from 275 kBTU to 1,000 kBTU due to the addition of a swimming pool with a 400 kBTH gas heater.
