Chairman Nash pictures 2040 in State of the County

In her sixth annual State of the County speech delivered on February 18, Board of Commissioners Chairman Charlotte Nash reflected on present-day accomplishments but also looked ahead 24 years to imagine Gwinnett County in 2040.

The surprisingly warm day outside the Infinite Energy Center matched her mood inside as Nash painted a picture of the future for Gwinnett's many main streets of the county. Her vision included a thriving entertainment district centered on Satellite Boulevard at Sugarloaf Parkway, an international business hub at Gwinnett Place, and the next Hollywood along Jimmy Carter Boulevard.

Nash said, "We want to have areas in the county that appeal to all age groups and that offer attractive locations for businesses of all sizes and types. As we create the future, however, we can't neglect the needs of today. We have to keep the fundamentals of Gwinnett's success strong and relevant every day." She outlined what she called basic building blocks of a successful community including schools, public safety, water, transportation, parks, greenspace, and libraries. She thanked Gwinnett voters for "three decades of support for SPLOST" programs that "helped ensure that success continues to live here."

Gwinnett Fire remounts eight ambulance bodies

Following the success of two previous projects to save money by remounting existing ladders on new fire trucks, Gwinnett Fire and Emergency Services will save $323,000 by remounting eight ambulances onto new chassis. Commissioners approved the project, which is being funded by SPLOST, in February.

Fire Chief Casey Snyder said the lifetime warranty on the Life Line compartment modules will be continued and the units will be refurbished to new condition with updated equipment and technology for use by emergency responders. The department had previously saved $135,000 by reusing the aerial ladders from two old, high-maintenance fire trucks that were due for replacement.

PUBLIC SAFETY

Spring forward and change your smoke alarm batteries

When you spring forward one hour for daylight saving time on March 13, Gwinnett Fire and Emergency Services reminds you to change the batteries in your smoke alarm once a year. Use daylight saving time as a reminder to keep your home safe. Here are some tips to keep your smoke alarm working properly:

- Test your smoke alarms monthly and replace any alarm after 10 years of use.
- Make sure at least one smoke alarm is placed on each level of the house, especially outside of bedrooms and at the top of staircase landings.
- Never paint over your smoke alarms and keep them free of dust and dirt.
- Have a home fire escape plan and practice with your family members.

PROTECTING OUR RESOURCES

Everyday household hazards disposal and recycling

Household hazardous wastes are items commonly found in homes that contain hazardous and harmful substances. Examples of these products include herbicides, pesticides, paints, solvents, batteries, automobile fluids, and some cleaning products. Improper disposal of these products through the stormwater drainage system—which includes, drains, pipes, and ditches—can harm the health of our rivers, lakes, and streams because these drains lead directly to surface waters. Discharges to the stormwater drainage system are considered violations of Gwinnett County's Illicit Discharge and Illegal Connection Ordinance. If you know of or see individuals dumping hazardous substances into storm drains, drainage ditches, or streams, please call 678.376.7193 to report the violation.

If you need to dispose of these products, it's best to give them to someone who can use them or recycle them with a participating retailer. Always be sure to consult the label for guidance concerning proper usage and disposal methods. There are many resources available where you can find the best disposal method for these hazardous wastes, including www.gwinnettcba.org/recycling and www.sustainablegwinnett.com.

Remember, if it seems like a bad idea to pour something down the sink drain, then it is definitely a bad idea to pour it down the storm drain. The stormwater drainage system is intended to direct rainwater untreated to the nearest body of water, not to serve as a trash can for household hazardous wastes. Let's work together to protect Gwinnett's water resources and keep household hazardous wastes in their place.

Don't forget to attend our free workshop!
