Board approves new transit study

The Board of Commissioners awarded a contract to Foursquare Integrated Transportation, Inc. to develop a new transit development plan.

Foursquare will help the Gwinnett Department of Transportation create a fresh new plan, focusing first on existing conditions, then identifying the needs and opportunities of Gwinnett's transit system.

This plan will increase the accessibility, connectivity, and mobility of multimodal transit throughout Gwinnett and the region. The goal is to provide Gwinnett County Transit with information, tools, and data that will support short and long-range plans for future development and capital priorities.

With the contract base amount of about $1.5 million, the study is being paid by County Transit Capital Funds and will take 18 months.

PROTECTING OUR RESOURCES

Save money and water by fixing leaky pipes at home

Leaks account for thousands of gallons of residential water waste yearly. Even a minor leak can waste almost 200 gallons of water a month. Not only does this contribute to a higher water bill, but an unchecked leak can damage your home and require expensive repairs. Being aware of leaks in your home and repairing them quickly can save you a significant amount of money. To check for leaks in your home, look for:

- Dripping faucets or showerheads
- Wet spots under your sinks
- Soggy areas in the yard

One of the most common leaks comes from toilets. Listen for a running toilet or ghost flushes as a sign of a leak. This can often be fixed at home by replacing the toilet flapper for just a few dollars. ## PUBLIC SAFETY

Beware of tax scams

The Internal Revenue Service is warning the public to be on the alert for scammers posing as IRS agents demanding personal information or threatening criminal penalties.

Some callers even trick caller ID into displaying "IRS" on the recipient's phone. They often speak in a crisp authoritative tone, demand taxes be paid immediately by debit card, gift card, or wire transfer, and say noncompliance will result in local authorities arresting the innocent victim.

The IRS will never demand payment that way or threaten to bring in local law enforcement. Generally, the IRS will mail a bill first for overdue taxes and allow the taxpayer to question or appeal the amount.

If you receive a scam call, record the number and hang up. Then, report the number to Phishing@IRS.gov with IRS Phone Scam in the subject line.

SPLOST

Roundabout to be installed at Burns and Dickens Roads

The Department of Transportation is building a roundabout at the intersection of Burns and Dickens roads near Lilburn.

Traffic engineers find roundabouts allow traffic to flow more smoothly than a four-way stop, and accidents tend to be glancing, instead of more serious T-bone collisions. The $1.4 million project is funded by the 2017 SPLOST program.

The County has several roundabouts in the works or recently completed, including projects at Constitution Boulevard and Langley Drive in Lawrenceville, Dogwood Road at Holly Brook Road near Brookwood High School, and Ridgedale Drive at Pharrs Road in Snellville.
