April 2022

Greetings:

Spring has just begun, but it's shaping up to be a busy one, including several important occasions in April.

April is National Child Abuse Prevention Month, a time to think about how we can help children by stopping abuse before it starts. We also celebrate National Volunteer Appreciation Week April 17 to 23, honoring those who help others throughout our community. Today, April 22, we celebrate Earth Day and make a plan to ensure our actions help future generations thrive in a healthy environment. Last but not least, we celebrate National Stress Awareness Day to recognize the stressors in our own lives and help ourselves be better friends, parents, coworkers, and neighbors by reducing our stress.

Through these celebrations and commemorations, progress continues in our vibrantly connected community, and at the end of March, I had the opportunity to help break ground on The POINTE at Ariston.

Meanwhile, our Board of Commissioners as a whole recently took action on many important initiatives:

- Approved annual contract for emergency generator maintenance and repair for multiple departments including Water Resources, Fire and Emergency Services, and Police
- Approved Police to apply for and accept, if awarded, a $6,000 grant by the Georgia Emergency Management and Homeland Security Agency to purchase supplies and equipment, conduct health evaluations/screenings, and grooming for the Explosive Detection K9s; the grant is 100 percent funded by GEMA/HS and does not require a County match
- Awarded a $28.1 million contract for the resurfacing of County roads to E.R. Snell Contractor Inc. that will be funded 75 percent by the 2017 SPLOST program and 25 percent by the Georgia Department of Transportation
- Incorporated Lake Lanier Heights Road into the Gwinnett County Speed Hump Program for a cost of $29,638, which will be funded by the 2017 SPLOST program

Leadership Tidbit: Rep. Shirley Chisholm, the first African American woman elected to Congress, stated, "You don't make progress by standing on the sidelines, whimpering, and complaining. You make progress by implementing ideas."

Let's get to it! Most of us reduced our movement last year due to the effects of the pandemic on our daily lives. No more excuses. It's time to implement positive ideas that will benefit others and not just ourselves. We can do it!

Always remember, We Are Much Better... Working Together

Happening Around Gwinnett

Save the date for the 2022 Multicultural Festival

One of the County's signature events, the Multicultural Festival, is making a return this year after a hiatus due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Join us Saturday, May 14 from 10:00am to 2:00pm at Gwinnett Place Mall on Pleasant Hill Road in Duluth. We could not be more excited to return with a celebration of the vibrant cultures and communities that make up Gwinnett. Visit Police and Fire exhibits, watch cultural performances from around the globe, meet officers, and enjoy kids' activities like games and bounce houses. For more information, call 678.442.6571. The event is open and free to everyone.

Board approves market adjustment, makes Juneteenth an official County holiday

A primary objective for the Board of Commissioners is to be the public sector employer of choice, which requires providing wages and benefits that will attract, recruit, and retain quality employees. On Tuesday, my fellow commissioners and I approved an 8 percent market adjustment for County employees, with an additional 2 percent for first responders bringing the adjustment for those employees up to 10 percent.

In the spirit of honoring the vibrant diversity of our community, we also agreed to follow the federal and state governments in making Juneteenth an official County holiday, commemorating the emancipation of enslaved African Americans.

With employee well-being in mind, Gwinnett County as of April 1 now offers four weeks of paid parental leave upon the birth, adoption, or foster of a child as well as access to family planning benefits rolled out earlier this year. We are working to support our dedicated workforce, ensuring the high level of services our residents want and deserve.

Visit the For All the World to See exhibit

The Gwinnett Environmental and Heritage Center is hosting the For All the World to See exhibit now through May 25. Through a compelling assortment of photographs, television clips, art posters, and other historical artifacts, this exhibit traces how images and media disseminated to the American public transformed the modern civil rights movement and jolted Americans out of a state of denial or complacency. Included in the exhibit are both positive and negative imagery, including stereotypes, in media of the time. The exhibit includes multiple images of the civil rights movement and explores the vast number of potent images that influenced how Americans perceived race and the struggle for equality.

This exhibition has been made possible through NEH on the Road, a special initiative of the National Endowment for the Humanities. It has been adapted and is being toured by Mid-America Arts Alliance. For All the World to See: Visual Culture and the Struggle for Civil Rights was organized by The Center for Art, Design, and Visual Culture, University of Maryland, Baltimore County, in partnership with the National Museum of African American History and Culture, Smithsonian Institution. Any views, findings, conclusions or recommendations expressed in this exhibition do not necessarily represent those of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Did You Know?

Greyfield sites are described as aging or abandoned strip malls, shopping centers, historical buildings, or other underutilized buildings that can be adapted or reused. The County has made great use of existing greyfield sites for new facilities. Examples include the Gwinnett Entrepreneur Center, located in the renovated and converted building that once housed the Sheltering Arms Daycare facility, and Simpsonwood Park, which is the converted former Simpsonwood Methodist Church retreat site along the Chattahoochee River.

Smart development of existing greyfield land prevents the consumption of greenfield space and preserves our natural resources.
