Board schedules public hearings on millage rate adoption

The Gwinnett County Board of Commissioners held two public hearings to receive comments on the proposed 2014 millage rates earlier this month. The third and final hearing will be on July 14 at 6:30pm in the auditorium of the Gwinnett Justice and Administration Center located at 75 Langley Drive in Lawrenceville.

The millage rate adoption is scheduled to take place on July 15 at 2:00pm. Commissioners are considering adopting the same millage rate as last year, which will result in more property tax revenue than last year due to an increase in property values.

The Gwinnett County Tax Assessor calculates the total value of all property in the county, called the tax digest, by conducting annual property updates of residential and commercial property and issues assessment notices to the owners, in accordance with state law. Reassessments reflect changes in the real estate market, including traditional sales as well as foreclosures. After five years of decline in the overall tax digest, many properties in Gwinnett County have increased in value. Higher sales prices and a marked decrease in the number of foreclosures provide evidence of the overall improvement in the real estate market.

Do you have leftover fireworks from your Independence Day celebrations?

Store leftover fireworks in a cool, dry place that is out of reach for small children and pets and away from open flames. When discarding used or unwanted fireworks, remember to soak them in a bucket of water for several hours before discarding them in the trash.
