Tech City exhibit opening at the Environmental and Heritage Center

The Tech City exhibit was developed by the Sciencenter and Cornell University with funding from the National Science Foundation to explore the many ways challenges of urban life are met and solved by engineers and the engineering process. This exhibit is the largest traveling exhibit that the Environmental and Heritage Center has hosted since its opening.

The exhibit will feature multiple interactive stations designed to address the common human needs of those who inhabit a typical city. Visitors will get the chance to solve real world problems engineers face every day. The exhibit also features many different fields that engineering encompasses and encourages visitors to consider engineering as a career path.

Tech City will be at the Environmental and Heritage Center until January 5, 2015. Entry to the exhibit is included in the price of admission. For more information, visit www.gwinnettEHC.org.
