What's new?

Transit Review Committee Meetings continue

With Gwinnett County expected to continue rapid growth through 2040 and beyond, the need for a robust transit system will become even more critical. The Board of Commissioners passed a resolution on September 3 creating the Gwinnett County Transit Review Committee, a group of 13 citizens, to advise them on how to expand transit in Gwinnett County.

The committee has begun a thoughtful and thorough review of Gwinnett's transit needs and the options to address those needs. This also includes review of the Connect Gwinnett: Transit Plan, which details significant, short- and long-term expansion of transit in Gwinnett, including various types of transit, more routes, and funding sources.

The committee will consider the transit plan, analyze transit needs, various types of transit, and potential economic benefits and impacts. The committee will also consider options suggested by the public.

On November 9 from 9:00am to noon, the committee will meet to discuss the Connect Gwinnett: Transit Plan, review the public input collected during the comprehensive outreach efforts last year, and hear new ideas from various stakeholder groups. On November 13 from 6:00pm to 8:00pm, the committee will analyze transit scenarios at a high level. The committee will then thoroughly assess transit scenarios from 6:00pm to 8:00pm on November 20.

These meetings are open to the public. Meeting notices, agendas, minutes, and other information are available here.

Staff Spotlight: Larry Worthy

With 16 years' experience in the transit industry, Larry Worthy, director of Operations for the contractor running Gwinnett County Transit, brings a wealth of insight on the best way to ride the bus.

His No. 1 suggestion: find an app to help you schedule your trip and track your bus.

"There are a lot of transit apps and websites...that assist in planning trips ranging from simple trips on one bus to complex trips requiring multiple modes of transportation," Worthy said. "There are also apps that track transit vehicle locations in real time... I think of these technologies improve the rider's experience by expanding transportation options during trip planning and providing real-time information that may impact a trip while traveling."

Worthy joined the contactor, Transdev, 13 years ago. Worthy got his start in transportation after receiving a call from a friend who thought he would be a good fit as a paratransit bus operator. He has steadily advanced up the ranks ever since. Worthy is currently responsible for ensuring the buses run on time, are reliable, and that his staff provide good customer service. He also is in charge of finding solutions to improve service and to address deficiencies. He says the most rewarding part of his job is knowing that he has the opportunity to positively impact the lives of others.

When riding with Gwinnett County Transit, you can take Worthy's advice and use the myStop app for real-time tracking of your bus, and use Google Maps for help with planning your trip. To learn more about what we do at GCT, visit our website or call GCT Customer Service at 770.822.5010.
